

Global Entertainment Technology, Inc., (“GET”) CEO Dain Schult, Announces Addition of GET Connected

AUGUSTA, Ga. – Oct 6, 2016 - PRLog -- GET has announced the addition of a new subdivision to its Wisplinx operations – GET Connected (“GETC”) - for the actual build out of both wireless and energy creation products and services in the rural US markets GET will serve with radio and Internet services.

GET CEO, Dain L. Schult, remarked, “We needed a separate wing for the actual build-out group that would be responsible for installing Wisplinx high-speed WiFi equipment to various residences, businesses and farms in the rural areas in which GET will serve. The Company already has an agreement to acquire a long established wireless software and hardware manufacturer so this is the logical next step in having the in-house ability to actually build out not only the wireless operations but also new and innovative energy creation products that GET will also be marketing in these areas.”

C. Allen Romine and his Delta Technology and Business Solutions Group has been chosen as GET’s strategic partner for this build out subdivision. Mr. Romine will oversee the on-site crews whose job it will be to connect these services and products directly to the end-users in each community GET serves.

Once fully operational, there will be promotional introductions of the specific Wisplinx WiFi products and services as well as the energy creation products that will be specifically geared to rural customers.

For more information, contact Dain L. Schult, GET’s Chief Executive Officer.
