

Drive-Thru Radio

Don't you wish media buying were as simple as ordering some food to go at your favorite drive-thru restaurant? You would be on your way in no time with just what you want. Fast, convenient and made-to-order... just the way you want it. Is this a dream or what? If media buying were this easy wouldn't everybody be doing it? Especially you?

Life just got simpler. When you're in the market for non-metro radio throughout the entire country the solution is a simple series of keystrokes away to www.amerirep.com.

Once you arrive at this website, you can purchase time on the American Internet and Radio (AIR) network of Terrestrial and Internet stations any way you want to. From buying just one station to a cluster to a whole state to a whole region to the whole country and to the whole world, you're in charge and your order will be handled just like you ordered it.

Our Amerirep website will bring express convenience to your domestic small market media buys with all the programmatic information you need to make critical buying decisions. We can provide website and app development to further enhance your buy.

No rep firm indifference here about rural radio...instead a dedication on the part of AIR to the nearly lost art of service first, last and always so that you get on down the road, quickly and conveniently. So remember, whether you're in the market to buy small market media or go global, just think of Amerirep as your favorite drive-thru... without the paper bag or the ketchup stains.

Why do you think we call it Global Entertainment Technology?
